

Earthan Credo

We are each Sovereign Earthans, each a free-master of ourselves, and each possessing unalienable birthrights inherited directly from our mother Earth.

Our objectives are to interact peacefully, constructively, and productively; seeking to develop and maintain a sustainable balance and harmony amongst ourselves and with our planet mother. We seek individual and collective self-reliance with a kindness and generous compassion for those of lesser ways and means. We seek to define, pursue and achieve an ever more progressive social evolution of our species, and to realize and appreciate that even as sovereign independents we remain mutually interdependent both for our individual and our collective wellbeing.

We each associate and align ourselves individually with others solely by our own choosing; and we acknowledge no external authority over our personal sovereignty beyond that which we explicitly, willingly and knowingly allow. In all cases and at all times we retain all ultimate rights of self determination; all rights of ownership over our physical persons; and all rights of free will over our intellects. We are each a unique and sovereign Earthan responsible firstly for ourselves and to ourselves, and secondarily to such groups as we may freely choose to associate with. We reserve all rights of ownership and control of any personal property we may legitimately individually possess, and an equal share in property or capabilities we may have in collective trust.

We acknowledge and respect the sovereignty of others, the life-rights of the other inhabitants of this planet, and the rights of the planet Earth itself as a living organism. We seek a harmonious, natural, and rational balance between all life, and to consume little beyond that which is necessary to our healthful continuance and wellbeing.

We seek to promote and employ the rational, intelligent, and productive courses of action for every worthy cause. We advocate for the thoughtful consideration of and distinction between root causes and resulting effects, with the aim of influencing any actions taken so as to maximize their effectiveness in problem solving and in conducting productive and constructive pursuits. We hold no illusions or delusions, we avoid no difficult choices, and we will not accept false or deceptive simulacrums of observable reality.

We agree that we may disagree over specifics and details of every nature, that the very act of disagreement is to be welcomed and viewed as a necessary component in the formula of deliberate, intelligent social evolution; and viewed also as an opportunity to further refine and eventually develop a more highly evolved, more pragmatic and more productive social compact. We will conduct ourselves peacefully in a civilized, evolved and dignified manner; and we will respect the dignity and honor the sanctity of the rights of others.

Our Earthan heritage has precedence over any other form of worldly identity we may have occasion or desire to assign ourselves (or into which we find ourselves). It is our familial Earthan relationship that binds us together at the very foundations of our beings; not our petty and divisive politics, not some fabricated artificial religion, not our exclusive and enslaving economic models, not the tone of our skin or the sound of our language, not our cultural or ancestral histories, not the circumstances of worldly life over which we have no control, not the artificial boundaries that separate us, and not our superficial differences... our common identity is as Earthans - all else is synthetic or consequent to circumstances we either have no control over (i.e. the location of our birth, or the tone of our skin), or is of our own making.

We observe that a life-enabling, animating force is made self-evident by the existence of the Earth, ourselves and our cousins, and the Universes large and small. We need no interpreter to sense and appreciate its power; we have no mandatory requirement to subjugate ourselves to or worship any fabricated God-personage created in Man's image; we need no organized religion to intermeditate with the "higher power" on our behalf; and we have no need for those who would claim some special authority to represent and speak for a fabricated or imagined figurehead in order to mislead us for their own empowerment or other ulterior purposes. We have no original sin, we are not superstitious, and we are free of the influences of creative mythologies. We understand that our pulsing physical bodies are of this planet - Earth; that our life energy source has its origins in the Sun - Helio at the center of our solar system; and we speculate, postulate, and allow that there may be some unfathomable, ubiquitous, unifying energy - Animi coursing through existence itself animating and infusing us with awareness. We are thus offspring of our Sun Helio, it's third planet Earth, and perhaps an all-encompassing greater & deeper awareness Animi...we are, in fact, demonstrably "Earthans".

We will teach our children, and they their children through the ages to appreciate and value their own sovereign Earthan identity. We will exemplify through our own actions and guide through our own words to engender in our children the sense of identity with our Earthan heritage as well as with their own individual uniqueness. We will teach them the pragmatic superiority of cooperation over competition; the value of an expanded understanding of foundational scientific principles; and the wisdom in advancing beyond our adversarial evolutionary history into a higher and more evolved familial-based social compact.

We strive to achieve the strength born of calmness even in the face of overwhelming adversity; to find the guiding light of deliberate intelligence even when surrounded by the darkness of blind ignorance; and to maintain the wisdom of perspective even when experiencing the throes of swelling irrationality. We seek the enlightened path, and in so doing seek to better ourselves in every way and grow into more evolved humans, and more awakened and aware Sovereign Earthans.

Life, Light, Love...
all of us Earthans
